Bhubaneswar: Union Education Minister Ramesh Pokhriyal attended the 9th convention of 'Nishank' IIT Bhubaneswar via video conferencing on Friday.

While addressing the students, Pokhriyal congratulated all the graduate students and their parents.

He called on the students to strive to make their dreams come true despite the immense challenges they face in the future. He reminded them not to forget Alma Mater's contribution to IIT Bhubaneswar's guidance on innovative teaching, learning and success. According to the official publication, they commend the organization for the outstanding wellness, teaching excellence and research aesthetic it has created.

He especially commended the directors and their team for facilitating the cream of global class education through its many innovations during the epidemic and as a role model for the nation to be proud of.

On this occasion the Minister inaugurated the Student Activity Center (SAC), Play Courts and IIT Bhubaneswar School of Humanities, Social Sciences and Management (SHSSM) into the national infrastructure. He also referred to the Government's Education Policy (NEP -2020). India will go a long way in creating the future of new students, paving the way for comprehensive and multidisciplinary education.

Speaking on the occasion, State Minister of Education Sanjay Dhotre congratulated the students and praised the faculty, students and researchers for the various strategies, innovations and studies they have undertaken during the ongoing epidemic. IIT Bhubaneswar emphasized the overall development of the students undertaken during their academic journey.
