It's time to turn a new leaf. The City Express explores how prominent personalities are preparing to step into the new year with their plans and priorities

 This year has been very special. I managed to complete my MBA in 2018. In 2019, I will work harder and focus on good scripts. I also want to keep my room clean and tidy throughout the year
 — Archita Sahu, Actor

 I will not forget the day when the agency cracked the sensational Patnagarh narcel

 The most memorable day of 2018 was when I pulled the chariots of the Trinity during Rath Yatra in Puri. Though I have been in Odisha since 1987, I had never got an opportunity to pull the chariots. I will further improve the security scenario in Odisha which would make the environment conducive for progress and development of the State. Odisha Police will soon submit a proposal to the State Government for covering the cops under health scheme. Implementing the scheme is also one of my resolutions for 2019

— Dr RP Sharma, DGP Odisha

 The most memorable day for me in 2018 was when Prime Minister Narendra Modi dedicated the campus of IIT Bhubaneswar to the nation. My new year resolution is to take IIT Bhubaneswar to the next level of excellence. Getting the phase-2 works of the institute completed within 2019, admission of the first batch of international students, starting a joint PhD programme with Auckland University and possibly a Western university are top on my priority list

— Professor V Raja Kumar, IIT Bhubaneswar Director
