

CAMPUS HAPPENINGS

IIT students bag national award

Students of IIT Bhubaneswar, including Rahul Kumar, Rahul Mahanot, Rishwanth K and Deepak K, have won the prestigious NRDC National Budding Innovators Award - 2018 for their invention "Internet of Things and Data Analytics based Price Fragmentation, Pay-As-You-Use and Supply Chain Automation and Optimization in LPG Distribution System. Their project is named Prajjawala. This is the second consecutive time that IIT Bhubaneswar has won this National Award. The award will be presented to the students on May 11 on National Technology Day at Vigyan Bhawan, New Delhi. Under this project, the students have developed IOT sensory attachment to gas cylinder which can intimate about the gas status in a cylinder online so that the gas filling can be made well organized.

